The Canadian Breast Cancer Network (CBCN) is pleased to announce our partnership with Embassy Cards, a Canadian card company that features the artwork of Canadian artists. Through this partnership a portion of the proceeds from sales of greeting cards throughout the 2013 holiday season will be donated to CBCN.

Embassy Cards provides organizations, corporations and individuals with personalized greeting cards that can be used to reach out to your clients, partners and friends over the holiday season. These unique cards, designed by local Canadian artists, can be customized to your preference.

Through educational programs, relevant and current resources, and advocacy efforts, CBCN and its survivor-driven board of directors aims to ensure that all Canadians affected by breast cancer have the best quality of life possible.
